

HUSTONVILLE.

—The County Teachers' Association meets here next Saturday at 10 A. M., in the Christian church. An attractive program has been prepared and the public is cordially invited to be present at the exercises.

—The tearing down of the old building belonging to the United Brethren causes us the loss of an old landmark of the town. This house was erected in 1847 and many of the merchants of former days did business within its walls.

—A new business and dwelling house has been erected on the lot next to Dr. Brown's office in the last few days. We do things rapidly in Hustonville when we get in the notion. The building was moved here from Junction City on a two-horse wagon by a photographer of that place.

—Mrs. John Reid, whose loss in the way of preserved fruits we noticed in our last letter, now mourns the loss of a fine plush cloak through the agency of sneak thieves. This is certainly very exasperating and the wish of all the good people is that the thieves may be discovered.

—Marshal Deyers received a telegram from W. O. Kile, of Columbia, Monday, telling him to look out for Jim Clark, who shot Ben Kile in Metcalfe county recently. Mr. Kile failed to state whether the party was white or colored, only stating that he was supposed to be in hiding at either Joe, Ed or Dick Estis', of Middleburg.

—On exhibition at F. B. Twidwell's drug store last week was a magnificent piece of ladies' handiwork with the needle in the shape of an elegant quilt made for Mr. C. B. Reid. The squares, each of which was a gem of art in design and execution, bore the names of Mr. Reid's lady friends and relatives—the centerpiece bearing the word so fraught with tender and holy associations to a young man's heart, viz: "mother."

—Ollie Farmer, son of Joe Farmer, of Mack's Valley, near this place in Casey county, was arrested at his father's home last Sunday night. He was wanted in Clinton county, Ill., for cutting a man there. Marshal Deyers, in company with Tom Helm, of Danville, and the sheriff of Clinton county effected the arrest and the latter officer departed with his prisoner Monday for that State.

—Our colored citizens on the Beat are greatly stirred up over the appearance of a bear the other night in the house of one of their number—so said. The usual stories about mutilated dogs, &c., that accompany the appearance annually of the "dog-eater" are in circulation now concerning him, and many are skeptical, but "allice same" the colored brother steps lightly and watches warily these nights when belated on the Beat.

—The County Missionary Association of the Christian church met last Saturday in the Church in this place and had a pleasant and profitable meeting. The meeting was very slimly attended by delegates, only the churches at Stanford, Hustonville, Turnersville and McCormack's church being represented by delegations. Revs. Williams and Pinkerton were the local ministers in attendance, while Revs. J. L. Allen, of Danville, George Gowan, of Lancaster, and J. G. Livingston and Brown were visitors. Rev. Allen remained over Sunday and preached morning and night at the Christian church to large congregations, as he is well known and very popular here as a pulpit orator and a man of broad, Christian sympathies. The accomplished housewives of the Christian communion spread an elegant dinner in the church yard at the hour of high noon and regaled those in attendance upon the services with one of those repasts for which our community is so justly famed.

—G. M. Givens has been complaining with a wrenched shoulder for a few days past. Mrs. Bertie Smith, of Jellico, Tenn., is visiting the family of her mother, Mrs. R. B. McKinney. Miss Sarah Curtis, who has been living at Stanford for some time, is at present on a visit to her friends here in general and to those composing the household of Cashier Hocker in particular. Judge Davison, of Stanford, was here Monday. If he should care to tell publicly what he decries on privately of democratic shortcoming at Stanford, he would create a sensation of mastodon proportions. John Sandridge is suffering from a skin trouble resembling erysipelas which disfigures his countenance considerably. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Huffman have removed from the house of John Reid and taken rooms in the home of Mrs. Caloe Bogie. Mr. Wm. Williams has accepted a position with the Hustonville Roller Mills. M. W. Rose, of Harrodsburg, representing the Green River Warehouse, Louisville, was here last week soliciting tobacco for his house and visiting his brother, Mr. Jas. Rose. Charley Adams, who some two months since went to Texas, writes from McKinney, that State, that he has a good position in a large dry goods store and that his health is improving steadily. Eld. George Gowan, of Lancaster, T. J. Hill, of the McCormack's neighborhood, and Eld. J. L. Allen, of Danville, were the guests of Mrs. Lusk during the Missionary Association.

KIDD'S STORE.

—Will Kenney, of Boyle, was here last week calling a lot of choice Cumberland county cattle Bob and Ed Young had bought up. Pronounced the best mixed lot driven over our roads in many months.

—Appendicitis made an injudicious selection when Emmett McCormack was adjudged a good subject. Emmett's world of friends will rejoice with him in his ability to pull through an attack which he thinks was severe enough for any ordinary half dozen robust victims.

—The democrats of this end find no fault with Judge Davison's supplementing the $100 allowance to supply the indigent citizens' school books, by an individual donation of $25, but the poor whites are unable to understand the discrimination of as much as $17 to one and $14 to another colored school—so far as heard from.

—Dave Allen and Walker Lyon seem animated by a determination to reduce their neighbors to a strictly vegetable diet next winter or to starvation, for they persist in shipping everything able to walk to the stock pens, in the face of the shortest pumpkin and turnip crops of years. The cabbage crop was too previous, Irish potatoes generally short, and corn, apples and dried beans are the outlook.

—The low stage of water has concentrated fish in such limited ranges of starvation pools that a Hopwood disciple needs only the commonest tackle and a semblance of bait to catch everything in sight. Fishing now is about like picking up stranded unfortunates after recedure of an overflow, yet there are professors (?) who go a fishing and return with a flourish. Cole Carpenter thinks it much like sacrificing a sitting hen in the soup pot.

—An episode of Gen. Hardin's speech at Liberty was omitted because of presumption that a couple of irresponsible bums was responsible for the disturbance, but information by a more unfortunate auditor who sat within view of the parties puts a different phase on the matter. The incident certainly recalled to Gen. Hardin and many others the blood-curdling Eminence affair, but no reference was made. Your scribe sat nearer the rostrum than rear of large court room, and was greatly annoyed by an audible conversation which was protracted in rear of him. Not only are the individuals enthusiastic Bradley men, the one who talked loudest is the republican nominee for Legislature, Rev. (?) Frederick Grider, who finally had the good taste (?) to leave the room, in evidence of his good breeding, and further indignity to the speaker. Comment is unnecessary, further than Casey is indebted to blue-grass counties for the acquisitions to her citizenship of both the individuals.

—By the way, Benjamin Bancroft King informed an audience of darkies at Milledgeville at a select seance one moonless night, recently, that Kentucky is in debt $50,000,000 and that he saw a certificate of 400 names sustaining the good generalship of Bradley's retreat from Eminence. Benny didn't tell his congenials anything about his favor of a property qualification before permitted a share of the voting he now urges the colored brother and penniless white republican to perform promptly by a cross under the coon—log cabin should say! Voting for a colored brother was right enough, but, insisting, when no such contingency as the buzz of a legislative bee was suspected, that the poor republican, black and white, shall have so much taxable stuff before he shall be allowed a vote, is stacking a small sized Pelion on Ossa. And Ben doesn't get a foot on the currency plank of his party's platform, for he was Moreland's representation advocate of free silver before his nomination. But, great men sometimes change (?) their minds.

—The Christian congregations—anciently called Campbellites—of Lincoln county held one of their semi-annual cooperation conventions at Hustonville last Saturday and it was good to be there. The program was elaborate and vastly entertaining. Chairman P. W. Carter presided with a pleasing autocracy and was expeditious in dispatch of business which stamp him a veteran. It will be well for some of the favored to emulate Chairman Carter's snap and promptitude in filling future appointments. Authorities on rhetoric emphasize the rare quality of ability to avoid the oblivion of one's own eloquence and indescribable beauty of quitting when done. As to the dinner that was furnished by the ladies, to which all were cordially invited, in fact urged to share—well just ask Warren Hocker and Dick Newland if they lived to get home. There were no groaning tables, for experience had taught the necessity of a substantial provision for the spread; but the table was, though immense, far short of superficial requirements. After every available inch had been covered, expert stacking left many baskets untouched in the reserve lines, reminding us good Sunday school boys of that profusion which fed thousands and a dozen baskets were filled of the surplus. What would the churches be without the women? As in apostolic times they are now, hewers of wood and drawers of water for the brethren. The women of apostolic times were evidently prototypes of the present day, sisters only in devotion, for had they possessed a tithe of to-day's superiority to their selfish mates the Sanhedrim would have expunged every monogamous sentiment from the original text and matrimonial emulation of Solomon would have been the refrain of Paul's every madrigal. And the sisters at Hustonville didn't solicit aid of even their nearby Kidd's Store neighbors except to help eat what they provided. The writer found but one complaint at dinner. He was kept so busy mumbling, "not any," and "no I thank you," he was constrained to flee the crowd or choke to death.

WILLIAMSBURG, WHITLEY COUNTY.

—Mrs. Dr. Gatlin and family have gone to Atlanta this week.

—Mr. W. R. Black, candidate on the republican ticket for the legislature, spoke here Monday.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mahan entertained their young friends at their home last Friday evening.

—Messrs. Jos. Gatlin and T. B. Mahan were ordained deacons in the Baptist church Sunday night.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Smith entertained their friends at their home in South Williamsburg last Saturday evening. They expect to leave this week for Cleveland, O., where they will make their future home.

—The work on the new saw mill, which is being built by the Kentucky Lumber Co. in the place of the one recently burned, is progressing nicely and the company hopes to be able to saw some this winter.

—Last Tuesday morning at about 2 o'clock the dwelling house of John W. Sutton, which is situated near the L. & N. depot, was discovered on fire. The house and its contents were almost an entire loss, but there was about $1,200 insurance, which would have run out in three days.

—The populists are warming up this section somewhat present, Mr. John McNichol, of Ohio, is canvassing this county at the present, speaking at the principal points in the county, especially at the mines where they expect to get most of their votes. Hon. Jas. R. Sovereign will make several speeches in this end of the 11th.

—The Whitley County Fair Association met last Monday and elected new officers who are as follows: Jos. Gatlin, president; W. E. DeLaney, M. J. Huffman and Nick Daniel, vice-presidents; C. H. Keeton, secretary and treasurer; Walker Mason, assistant secretary. The secretary's report shows that the company cleared about $200, most of which will be spent in improving the track.

OF A LOCAL NATURE.

—The Advocate says that E. H. Fox beat Dr. J. C. Bogie for the nomination for councilman in the 6th ward one vote. —At Middlesboro Andrew Jackson, a negro desperado, killed Maj. Campbell in Bardett's saloon. Jackson has killed six men in all.

—Mrs. Eliza Sheppard, perhaps the oldest citizen of Boyle county, departed this life, Saturday afternoon, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. Q. Davis, aged 93.

—Woodson Burton, one of Boyle county's oldest and most highly respected citizens, died Saturday night at the home of his niece, Mrs. William B. Cecil, near this city.—Advocate.

—The Hon. James B. McCreary and the Hon. D. G. Coleman met in joint debate at Monticello Monday. Neither knew of the other's appointment and the discussion was arranged after they arrived there, each speaking 1½ hours and the governor closing with a 15 minutes rejoinder.

—A dispatch from Danville says that Hardin's speech there won four votes from the republican ranks at least. An old fellow said to the general, pointing to the "Log Cabin" pin on his coat's lapel: "Do you see that general? I have voted that ticket all my life, but now I will support it no longer, and am now for you, tooth and toe nail."

—In ordering the Mercer county clerk to place the name of W. E. Gill, a republican candidate for the Legislature, upon the official ballot, Judge Sanfley declared that "the people are superior to an arbitrary county committee, no matter how regularly constituted, and that it lay within their power in mass convention assembled to make a nomination and repudiate its action. We must admit the right of revolution in politics."

—If Troubled with Rheumatism Read This. ANNAPOLIS Md., 1894—I have used Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism and found it to be all that is claimed for it. I believe it to be the best preparation for rheumatism and deep seated muscular pains on the market and cheerfully recommend it to the public. Jno. G. Brooks, dealer in boots, shoes, etc., No. 18 Main St.

MECHANICSVILLE, St. Mary county, Md.—I sold a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm to a man who had been suffering with rheumatism for several years. It made him a well man. A. J. McGill. For sale at 50 cents per bottle by Craig & Hocker, Druggists, Stanford, Ky.

LANCASTER, CARRARD COUNTY.

—The republicans will have a grand rally here upon the 4th. Col. Bradley will speak here.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church will meet to-morrow afternoon with Mrs. John Higginbotham.

—Mrs. Joe S. Robinson entertained at her pretty country home in honor of some of her nieces last Saturday evening.

—The meeting being conducted by Rev. F. M. Hill at Sycamore Valley school-house has already resulted in a number of additions to the church.

—A merry party of society people enjoyed an outing on Monday. The couples were out in search of nuts, persimmons, grapes or any other eatables that are found in the woods.

—It will be gratifying to the friends and relatives of Elder R. M. Campbell and wife, who something over a month ago left Lancaster to make their home in San Francisco, Cal., to learn that he has recently had his salary increased from $1,200 to $1,800 per annum.

—Arrangements have been made with Prof. Eddy, of Danville, to send the election news here by telephone messages. A general admission of 25 cents will be charged to enter the court-house for the news. It is thought and intimated that quite a number expect to do some scratching upon that day.

—To-morrow Mayo's circus will be with us. It has been so long since we have had a circus that we know an immense crowd will be in Lancaster to witness the parade as well as to attend the performances. Anns, uncles and cousins will all be assembled. The admission is so small that that may prove a drawing card to many.

—Married in Lincoln on Wednesday afternoon at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Luther Underwood, his daughter, Miss Mattie Underwood, to Mr. Jim Wood Bourne, of this place. A supper was tendered the happy couple Wednesday evening at the home of the bride. The ceremony was pronounced by Elder George Gowen.

—The frame dwelling and barn belonging to Mr. Arch Whittaker was on Monday night entirely consumed by fire. Most all of the contents were destroyed. When Mr. Whittaker discovered the fire it was at midnight and then the whole barn had been consumed. It is thought by many to have been the work of an incendiary. The residence and barn had an insurance upon them for $1,100.

—Capt. T. W. Olds was reported quite sick for several days, but is now better. Suffering Hughes is much better and in a fair way for a complete recovery. Mrs. Gen. Landrum is quite sick and has been for a week or more. Her family were apprehensive at first that she had pneumonia. Mr. John C. Thompson has been sick for several days past. Mrs. H. A. B. Marksbury, who has been sick, is better. Mrs. J. B. Turner is also ill as well as Miss Sallie Tillet.

—A box lies stored away in a corner of the foundation of the old Methodist church that is now about torn down. The box contains a Bible, coin and a list of the early Presbyterians who built the church. Some of our older citizens can now recall the fact that many noted divines and some of matchless eloquence have graced the pulpit of this church in the past years. Many a wanderer has been reclaimed from his past sinful life, and many a wrecked soul has confessed Christ in this church after listening to the earnest pleadings of faithful ministers who have occupied her pulpit. At its marriage altar many loving, trusting hearts have pledged their troth for life, and within its sacred domain many funerals have been preached over the remains of departed spirits. If the walls of this holy edifice could only once again re-echo down the dim vista of ages, "Thereby would hang a tale."

—T. J. Price attended Moberley's sale in Madison on Tuesday. Mrs. Humphrey Ballou and little daughter, Pattie Lynn, have returned from a visit to relatives in Stanford. Mrs. El Price and son, Joe, leave to-morrow to visit Mrs. Jennie Ballou and family of Madison. Rev. C. M. Reid made a visit to Lexington last week. Misses Bessie and Jennie Burnside, two of Lancaster's most beautiful daughters, are the guests of their cousin, Miss Pearl Burnside, of Stanford. Mr. Charles Smith is in Somerset on a visit to friends. Mrs. Nolan, of Mayville, is the guest of Miss Martha Tillet. Miss Mollie Douglass is enjoying the hospitality of Versailles friends. Miss Julia Reid has returned from a pleasant visit to her aunt, Mrs. Ford, of Lexington. Miss Ida May Grant is the guest of Mrs. S. P. Grant, of Danville. Miss Eliza Rucker is visiting friends in Lowell.

The Darlington, Wis., Journal says editorially of a popular patent medicine: "We know from experience that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is all that is claimed for it, as on two occasions it stopped excruciating pains and positively saved us from an untimely grave. We would not rest easy over night without it in the house." This remedy undoubtedly saves more pain and suffering than any other medicine in the world. Every family should keep it in the house, for it is sure to be needed sooner or later. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists, Stanford, Druggists, Ky.

W. P. WALTON.

The sensation of the week in the most complicated campaign ever fought in Kentucky is a letter from Hon. Cassius M. Clay, Jr., late candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, in which he repudiates Hardin for repudiating the financial plank of the party's platform, the issue of which he forced for selfish purposes, adding that that repudiation of the platform upon the all-vital question now before the American people certainly absolves all democrats from any obligation to support him as the democratic nominee. He then goes on to hint in a dark and uncompromising manner at the conduct of affairs by Auditor Norman and Attorney General Hendrick, and asserts that in his opinion a sinking fund commission composed of Hale, Ford, Hendrick, Bradley and Norman would be a far better commission than one composed of "Hardin, Norman, Hendrick, etc." Mr. Clay gives it as his opinion that the cry of negro supremacy is nonsense, as the Senate which will be democratic from holdover Senators alone, would have to confirm Bradley's appointments.

The cry of negro domination, he says, looks like it is for the purpose that the bloody shirt was used, to avert attention from mean men and meaner measures. After presenting the strongest arguments he can why Bradley should be elected, he closes by saying he will not vote for him, but scratching Hardin, cast his ballot for the rest of the democratic ticket, but thought to let the horn go with the hide.

His letter shows that he is soured towards the democratic party, which so persistently refuses to honor him, and feeling that he is shelved for good and all, he can afford to vent his spleen and do what he otherwise would not dare to do. Mr. Clay never takes defeat gracefully. It is said that he seriously thought of running independently for governor when Brown beat him for the nomination, and although he promised to support Hardin when the nomination was made and said we could not afford to turn Kentucky over to the republicans, he now says, in effect, that it would be to the interest of the State and of good government for us to elect Bradley. He has evidently arrived at his belated opinion after brooding over defeat at his beautiful Bourbon county home, for he had promised the campaign committee four days after Hardin's repudiation of the platform, to speak for the ticket. Mr. Clay is a man of ability and a highly educated one, but he is a back number now and his letter will cut but little figure, because of the soreness that the writer exhibits between every line. He is now a political corpse and his passing will occasion his friends, of whom we have been one, sincere regret. Let him rest in peace while all of us who love our party and our State march to the polls and vote the whole ticket.

The sudden death of Francis Marion Green, editor for 29 years of that model newspaper, the Richmond Register, sent a pang of sorrow to the heart of every editor in the State, even if he knew him only by his writings, and it falls as a personal sorrow on those of us who were fortunate enough to know him as he was, the polished, high-toned, genial gentleman, modest and retiring as a woman, yet brave and chivalric as an ancient knight. Disease had racked his never robust frame for years, reducing him to 85 pounds in weight, but he was always cheerful and clung to the duties of his office, when men of stronger bodies but weaker spirits would have kept their beds. He was a good writer and never hesitated to discuss any subject no matter how distasteful nor to take sides for what he thought was right, no matter how unpopular. But in doing so he always had respect for the opinions of those who differed with him and we doubt if in his long career as editor, he ever knowingly or willfully offended anyone, certainly not any brother of the quill. His virtues were many, his vices few if any. May he rest in peace.

TOM PETTIT makes an unnecessary denial of the report that he will withdraw from the populist ticket in favor of Gen. Hardin. It is of little importance what he does. He is not in the race a little bit, and judging by the reports of the small crowds that gather to hear him speak, nobody cares for him and nobody should. He is nothing but a common, every day, little turncoat, the most contemptible of creatures, who after living off of the democratic party for years and getting fat turned against it when it cut off his rations. Let him be anathema maranatha.

SENATOR GORREL will not have to answer in the criminal courts for the murder of Banker Sandford, but the civil courts will take a whack at him. The widow of the dead banker will sue him for $75,000 damages and here's hoping she will win her case and get the money. The Covington Commonwealth says that Theodore F. Hallam will represent Mrs. Sandford.

The Louisville Times very timely and tersely remarks that if this weather continue the prohibitionists may be able to win votes on election day by treating—to common, every day water.

MR. WEISSENGER, a Louisville sound money man, makes a good point in a letter to the Courier-Journal, in which he shows that the failure of the sound money men to vote or to vote for Bradley will reduce their representation in the next democratic convention, and so play directly into the hands of the silverites. Representation in the next State convention will be based upon the vote for governor and if it is light the representation will be ditto. Democrats, especially sound money democrats, there is every reason for you to vote and for the party's nominee. You can not afford to rebuke Hardin at the expense of the democratic party, as much as you may desire to do so. Vote for him now and then give his free silver fallacies a head next year.

THE next United States Senator from Kentucky will not be a free silverite. File this away for future reference. Thus dogmatizes the Courier-Journal, and all the people in this end of the State say "amen." A seat in the Senate is about Gov. McCreary's size and he would fill it with honor and dignity and credit to himself and to the satisfaction of his people.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

BRADLEY AND WILSON.—The special train bearing Col. W. O. Bradley and Hon. Augustus E. Wilson arrived an hour ahead of the advertised time yesterday, but there was a pretty big crowd of coons and others, drawn by the music of the band, which the republican managers had hired, and the novelty of the occasion. Maxville was largely in evidence, every man, woman and child being on hand. When Col. Bradley appeared on the rear platform a lusty cheer went up and he expressed himself delighted over such a reception by his neighbors and friends. He said he had been greeted with tremendous crowds everywhere and that so certain as God Almighty reigns the people are preparing for a change and they will make it the 5th of November. They want the books at Frankfort looked into and they want that party to keep them, which will do so correctly and leave them open for the inspection of the humblest citizen Kentuckians, he had found, were for sound money and said that many democrats would vote for principle and against the man who repudiates that plank of their platform. The colonel then smeared Mr. Wilson all over with taffy, claiming that he had done more than any man to insure him the 10,000 majority he was sure to get in his home, the city of Louisville. Mr. Wilson was not to be out done in taffy slinging and he beamed his chieftain most lavishly. He was sure that victory for him was in the air, for the people wanted a more economical government, better laws, better roads and better everything else. Referring to Mr. Clay's bolt he lauded that gentleman to the skies and said there was no alternative for an honest, sound money democrat than the one taken by him. He then "told a little joke at the expense of his friend Bradley," the train pulled out and it was all over, and those who had come began to realize that it wasn't so much after all. The joke referred to was: In his second effort to reach the gubernatorial chair, the colonel reminded him of the little boy who prayed: "Dear Lord, make me a good little boy and if at first you don't succeed, try, try again." Bradley's prayer was "make me governor and if at first you don't succeed, keep on trying." The first of the prayer was sure to be answered this time and further trial would be unnecessary.

Besides the speakers, three other men were the "cynosure of all eyes, the observers of all observers." They were Judge Davison, Mr. Ed Caldwell and the blind negro pensioner. The first was all excitement and jumped around like it was all on his shoulders, the second waved a flag so as to give the coons the cue when to applaud and the latter danced to the band music till he got out of breath. It was a lovely and inspiring sight and made the democrats the more determined to vote their ticket straight. "Honestly now, Col. Bradley," said our reporter, "do you really think you will be elected?" "Yes sir," was his reply, "and by 20,000 majority. I told you last year how many Congressmen, we would elect and you hooted at me. I was right then and I am right now. Mark that," and he really seemed to have gotten himself to think that he was stating a positive fact in the first sentence. His only hope, however, is in democratic disaffection and his whole plea is for their support. Let's fool him one more time and he won't try, try again any more.

—When the vaults of a suspended Tacoma Bank were opened a cash balance of $1.10 was found.

—A two-wheel motorcycle, invented by a Racine, Wis., man, made an alleged speed of 57 miles an hour.

—An old fellow down near Augusta dug a large cistern, and as there were no indications of rain, he just filled it with cider.

—The longed talked of prize fight is off, because Fitz would not agree to a postponement, but Corbett says he will mash his mouth any way when he meets him.

—A call has been issued by Chairman Carter for a meeting of the republican National committee in Washington December 10. The time and place will be selected for the meeting of the National convention.

—Chris Miller, a farmer living near Cardington, O., shot his wife to death and then hung himself. He had been in the asylum, but was thought to have been all right when discharged a few weeks previous.

—At Fountain Ferry bicycle track John S. Johnson broke the world's record, one mile paced at 1:44 1-5, cutting over two seconds from the previous mark. Otto Zeigler cut 10 seconds from the two mile standing start record, placing the figures at 3:51.

—State Senator Sims and a companion were captured in Lawrence county, Tenn., by moonshiners, who suspected that they were revenue officers. Preparations for hanging them were commenced, but the executioners were persuaded to postpone the exercises until they could be identified.

—Will Myers, the youth who assassinated a cotton manufacturer at Atlanta, escaped from jail there. In the morning the Supreme court for the third time confirmed his sentence of death. An hour afterward a lady called at the jail to see him. While he was talking to her the jailer's attention was diverted and Myers ran over the jailer and got away. A reward $500 is offered for him.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Mr. Robert E. Sorrell, 24, and Miss Pearlle Clanch, 17, were married at Mr. M. B. Clanch's yesterday.

—Rev. Hayden Rayburn who has just died at Kokomo, Ind., married 1,277 couples during the 60 years of his ministry.

—Samuel P. Colt, of Providence, R. I., has sued J. J. Van Allen, of Newport, for $200,000 damages for alienating his wife's affections.

—Frank Harris, of Bloomington, Ill., wants divorce from his wife because she objects to his smoking in the house and pulls his hair when he does so.

—In Elmonson county Rev. George Mills shot and perhaps fatally wounded Charles Clemens, as the result of a quarrel over the attention Clemens was showing the minister's daughter. Preachers are sometimes bad people to project with.

—J. W. Bourne, aged 22 and a resident of Garrard, died over the line yesterday and took a pretty little Lincoln lady to wife. She was Miss Mattie Underwood, the 18-year-old daughter of Mr. L. B. Underwood, and she is said to be pretty and attractive.

—Mr. G. W. Goodrich, a Rowland merchant, made his third matrimonial venture yesterday. Miss Nannie Mitchum, an artist of some local celebrity, is the fortunate lady. The marriage occurred in the parlor at Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Alford's at 5 p. m., Elder J. G. Livingston officiating. Good luck to them.

—The marriage of Mr. S. W. Duncan, of Dallas, Texas, to Miss Susie Bain, the pretty daughter of Sheriff and Mrs. T. D. Newland, was duly solemnized Tuesday by Rev. A. V. Sizemore in a ceremony spoken of as very beautiful. Miss Lizzie Menefee and R. M. Newland acted as attendants. The house was nicely decorated and the lunch was excellent. Only immediate relatives were present. The happy pair were handsomely remembered by friends, whose gifts were numerous and costly. An hour after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan were on their way to McKinney, where they took the train for Texas, intending to take in the Atlanta exposition en route.

THE Si Perkins show is a genuine mirth provoker and is made up by the funniest of dialogue, amusing incidents and laughable complications, together with specialties of every description, which are interwoven with the farcical situations of each act. For the present season many novel features have been added, while all that proved so entertaining heretofore are retained. Prominent in the cast are: Mr. Sam J. Burton, as Si Perkins, traveling agent of the Agitator threshing machine; Miss Lillie Coleman as "Zine"; Lon Hascel as "Israel Budge"; Miss Carrie Lemoine in the character parts of "Betsey" and the "Old Gypsy," and many other well known character actors. A large audience should greet this deserving company at Walton's Opera House tonight, Oct. 25, as a pleasing entertainment is assured.

PERSONAL POINTS.

MISS ANNIE STRAUB is visiting at Junction City.

MRS. W. G. WELCH went to Louisville yesterday.

MR. V. R. COLEMAN, of Casey, was in town Tuesday.

MR. AND MRS. JEFF JONES have gone to Pineville to live.

MR. AND MRS. W. B. McROBERTS and children went to Louisville Wednesday.

REV. R. B. MAHONY has opened an insurance office in Mr. Reuben Williams' building.

MRS. J. BARKER came up from Jellico yesterday to visit her aunt, Mrs. R. B. McKinney.

JUDGE J. W. ALCORN, who has been quite ill, is we are glad to state, able to be down town again.

WILL SEVERANCE made another trip to the cities this week. His firm is selling dead loads of goods.

MR. I. MACK BRUCE, who performed a like service last year, is again assessing the property in town.

MRS. P. E. KEMP and her pretty son, Philip, of Middleboro, are guests at Judge J. W. Alcorn's.

MISS ELLEN BALLOU, who has a music class at Somerset, was up to see her homefolks a few days.

HON. J. S. OWLEBY, Sr., and Mr. S. T. Harris attended the Moberley sale of Shorthorns at Richmond.

MR. AND MRS. J. H. MONEN, who have been visiting the family of O. J. Crow, returned to Hardin county yesterday.

DR. BRONAUGH continues in a dangerous condition. He has given up all hopes and Wednesday made his will.

We regret to observe in the Advocate that its accomplished editor, Mr. H. E. Woolfolk, is down with a spell of sickness.

CAPT. AND MRS. B. N. ROLLER attended the marriage of his niece, Miss Mary Whitehouse, to Mr. Langford at Gravel Switch, Tuesday.

MRS. C. H. PAINE and children and Miss Lula Prewitt, after a couple of months spent with Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Tate returned to Boston Wednesday.

MR. W. STUART MYERS, who was in San Francisco when he wrote, sent us a copy of the Examiner of that city containing a stenographic report of the famous Durrant trial for the murder of a young lady in church, which is liberally illustrated with the tragic and comic scenes during the sessions of court.

MRS. ROBERT HARDING entertained a few of her most intimate friends in an informal manner last night. It was the 16th anniversary of her marriage, and those who were so fortunate as to be present expressed the wish that she might reach the golden anniversary with naught save happiness intervening.—Advocate.

This announcement in the Louisville Times will surprise the beautiful young lady's host of friends here: Miss Mary Clay Thompson, one of the handsomest and most popular girls in Louisville society, leaves next week for New York, where she will enter the nurse training class in St. Luke's Hospital in that city. She intends taking up the nursing of the sick as a profession.

CITY AND VICINITY.

SI PERKINS at Walton's Opera House to-night.

THE stylish Opera Guard, in silver, silk and gold. Danks, the Jeweler.

TWO good store-rooms in centre of town for rent. Apply at this office.

A NICE line of wraps and jackets at Shanks'. See our styles and get our prices.

LADIES will find fine sterling silver-mounted leather card cases and purses at W. B. McRoberts'.

FOR good, strong harness, lap robes and horse blankets at your own price, see M. S. & J. W. Baughman.

A FREIGHT car jumped the track up the road yesterday and delayed the down mail two hours or more.

STAMPED lines, Roman and filo silk, embroidery hoops, over gaiters, slipper soles, long side combs and numberless other novelties at Shanks'.

I HAVE an overstock of wire and slat fence made of oak pickets; the best fence in the market. In order to reduce stock I will sell it at extra low price for the next 30 days. A. C. Sine.

I DESIRE to thank everybody who helped me save my fence from further destruction Monday. But for their help my loss would be much greater than it is, $150. D. W. Vandever.

OUR Mt. Vernon correspondent says that Col. Bradley and his special train got a cold reception there. At Crab Orchard only 23 persons appeared. Some fellow hallooed for Hardin and that cut the stop there very short.

HAVE you read Danks' big "ad?"

WINDOW lights at Craig & Hocker's.

LAMPS and onyx tables at Danks'.

HUNTERS' supplies and a few guns for sale cheap. W. B. McRoberts.

LADIES' and gentlemen's underwear in great variety at W. H. Shanks'.

Our line of silver tableware is rich and complete. Danks, the Jeweler.

An extensive line of Forwood shoes and boots just arrived at W. H. Shanks'.

We are selling out our stock of men's clothing at reduced prices. If you want a suit now it is the time to get one. W. H. Shanks.

ASSESSOR J. T. TERRY tells us that property is rating about the same as last year, with the exception of horse stock, which is away down.

NOTHING better for a wedding present than one of our lovely Onyx tables, topped off by a beautiful silk shade banquet lamp. Danks, the Jeweler.

PERFUMERY, colognes, bay rum, Florida water. Extracts for the handkerchief. Our stock comprises all of the popular odors. Craig & Hocker.

To avoid carrying stock over the winter, I am selling boxing, studding and joint at a lower price than they were ever offered in this market. A. C. Sine.

BRADLEY voted for a negro and King voted for one, although at different elections. If you do not want negroes to rule over you scratch this par nobile frutum.

It took over 100 pounds of white paper to print the ballots for this county. In addition to this an educational ballot was printed equal to one for every other voter in the county.

MR. J. K. CARSON has bought out his partner Adley Glass at Kingsville and will run the business alone. Mr. Glass will locate in Boyle. Mr. Carson says he is making at the rate of $3,000 a year.

THE St. Perkins Co. will arrive from Danville on the 1:15 train today, Friday, and shortly afterwards will give its novel and amusing street parade. Come in to see it and stay to the show at night.

COL. T. B. DEMAREE, prohibition candidate for governor, will speak at Moreland, Wednesday, Oct. 30th, and at Crab Orchard, Thursday, 31st, at 6:30 P. M., each place. All invited. J. K. VanArsdale, Chairman.

THE L. & N. will sell round trip tickets to the Atlanta exposition via Knoxville from Stanford any day at $16.45, good to return Jan. 7, 1896, at $12.25 good for 20 days, and at $9 Oct. 28, Nov. 5th, 15th and 25th, good for 10 days.

We will open this morning 75 new Capes and Jackets. If you want a nice wrap don't wait until all the best things are sold. Twenty samples misses' and children's jackets at 25 per cent. under price. Ladies' Astrachan, Bouclé and Beaver Jackets. Severance & Son.

It is still as dry as a powder horn with no promise, that is from the signal service, for rain, the dispatch yesterday reading: "Generally fair, warmer Friday." We will venture a little prediction on ourselves, however, and that is that it will rain a little, at least, before Sunday night.

MISS CALLIE HORTON, an accomplished type and shorthand writer, is desirous of teaching a class in those useful and money getting vocations and will be glad to have those who wish to learn them call on her at her office on Lancaster street, for terms, &c. She will also do typewriting at reasonable rates.

CIRCUS.—At last we are to have a circus. Mayo's Consolidated Shows and Trained Animal Exposition will spread its tents at the lower end of Main street next Monday and at 1 o'clock and 7 will give performances, which judging by the bills, will be marvels of wonder and merit. In addition to a trained congress of performers, including men, women, dogs, monkeys and goats, the great circus clown Dan Costello will be on hand to make music and fun—all for the low prices of 10 and 20 cents.

HE WERE "THAR."—In his speech at Danville, Gen. Hardin said that Col. Bradley made a big blow about his love for the Union soldier, but when he had a chance to help honor one he voted for a negro instead. "I understand that that old soldier is here to-day. If he is I will ask him to stand and let the people see him," and then gallant old Sam Rothwell, of Garrard, got up and stood in his chair, while the crowd shook the building with cheers over the point scored by our standard bearer.

MR. JOHN B. MERSHON, imagining that our item with reference to bolting democrats, referred to him, because the shoe fit him to some extent, says he is only going to vote for Bradley, in consideration of a personal favor, and will vote for the rest of the democratic nominees. While we think he might find another way to pay his debt of gratitude, we are glad that Mr. Mershon is not as recalcitrant to principle as represented and that he objects, even inferentially, to being classed with turncoats and bolters.

WINTER oats and timothy seed. W. H. Wearren & Co.

HON. J. N. SAUNDERS, who attended the barbecue at Springfield, says about 7,000 people were present to hear Hardin, Blackburn and Alexander and each made good speeches. The democracy there is aroused and Hardin will get the full vote, but things are very much mixed in the Legislative race, there being four candidates, a free silver democrat, a populist, an independent and a republican, with the chances in favor of the latter.

We understand that some republicans, who haven't much more than a sufficiency of gumption to keep them out of the feeble minded asylum, say that the editor of this paper has no room to talk against negro equality at hotels, theatres, &c., when he rents his opera house to negroes. The man who can not see the difference is either too thick of skull or too much of a knave to admit it. The opera house is for rent to any respectable entertainment, and we do not hesitate to say that the one given by Prof. Tardif was as nicely presented as any ever given in it. The colored people behaved themselves in the most decorous manner and for the white people who attended reserved the best seats in the house. They know as well now, however, as they did before that at other entertainments they will no more be permitted on the lower floor than heretofore. The sensible colored man recognizes the difference and we do not fear that courtesies shown them will be abused. For those of the colored race, who behave themselves and most of them do, we entertain a high regard and would, we are sure, do more for them than their blatant republican friends, who profess so much and do so little. It ill becomes those who have been talking to do so and we would gently suggest verbum sat sapienti.

—President Cleveland was given an ovation at the Atlanta Exposition. He made an address congratulating the managers of the exposition upon the success of their efforts, and containing some patriotic thoughts upon the duty of the government and the citizen. After a reception at the Capital City Club in the evening, he and party left for Washington.
